Mileage capture solution - Innovation Professional Services Limited

I have known Innovation for several years now.

They brought a new and innovative cost saving idea to us, which we have not seen supplied by anyone else, even though we deal with a range of professional advisers.

With Innovation's help we are saving about £1,000 per driver. The solution relies on recoding business mileage.

Our drivers change cars frequently, simply because of the nature of our business, and we thought we may have issues rolling out the new solution but in fact the overwhelming vast majority of staff have no problems using the mileage system.

From talking with colleagues who use Innovation's mileage capture system, they all say it is a really easy and user friendly system to use. The system has also been designed to be fully HMRC compliant.

If any other company were considering a mileage capture system I would have no hesitation in recommending Innovation's system.

If any company is still providing free or private fuel to their staff I would also encourage them to contact one of the partners at Innovation; Peter Moroz, Russell Powis or John Messoré, all of whom have come to see us, to assist us as needed.
